Forest set to break record

OVER 20,000 visitors are expected to create another record-breaking year for the Enchanted Forest, swelling the coffers of Highland Perthshire businesses.

Organisers Big Tree Country said they anticipate the sound and light show—which this year has a Scottish myths and legends theme—to be the most successful yet.

A greater than normal international presence is anticipated as Enchanted Forest has been tied into the Scottish Government's Homecoming campaign.

With public funding set to stop after this year's event, the news is a huge boost to the community interest company taking it on from 2010.

Now in its eighth year, it has become a fixture in the tourist calendar, igniting Faskally Wood near Pitlochry in a blaze of colour and sound.

This year's Enchanted Forest takes place from October 16 to November 1.
